To the Members of the Class of 1962

My sincere congratulations go to you, the Class of 1962, upon the completion of your undergraduate career. You have made your college proud of you because your members were both able and conscientious. I know that in the years to come you will reflect the same fine qualities in all your activities.

May you remember that education is a lifelong process. It must not stop with graduation. The four years that you have spent in college have acquainted you with the sources of knowledge and the tools of research. These sources and tools you must now use to further your own learning, whether or not you go on to graduate school.

It is your responsibility to keep up with changes in your respective fields. Every area of knowledge is continually undergoing expansion. The person who is satisfied with what he now knows soon finds his material out of date. To be an educated person is to be intellectually alert at all times.

May God guide you to make the most of your abilities.

Senior Class President

The month of June brings to a close four years of both work and pleasure for the Class of 1962 at Boston State College: work in so far as our academic life was concerned; pleasure in our participation in the many class functions and events of the past years.

We have been prepared in the best possible way for our future in the field of education by some of the finest instructors in the state. We owe much to them for their excellent teaching. We also owe much to our parents for the many sacrifices they have made to help us with our education.

We now will go out into the classrooms of America to train the future leaders of the country. I am sure that, because of the background we have been given at Boston State, we shall accomplish well this most important task.

James J. Coady
President

JAMES JOSEPH WILLIAM COADY

20 Granville Road, Cambridge

Elementary

Class President IV; Newman Club III, IV.

American literature is his love; teaching history his aim. Tall, dark, need we say handsome? Jimmie made a fine president during our most important year. Watch out world, he's an individualist! Has anyone seen him with a blonde?

JANE LEE DONNELLY

30 Arbroth Street, Dorchester

Secondary

All-College Musical I, II; Cheerleading I, II; Class Vice-President I, II, IV; Dance Committee III, IV; Dean's List I-IV; Parents Tea and Reception III, Chairman; Lampus IV, Class Historian; Newman Club I-IV; Senior Fair Committee IV; S.G.A., Election Committee Chairman III, Vice President III.

A German linguist and an excellent leader for four years, Jane is always ready to listen to everyone and impart her words of wisdom. A part-time student at State and a full-timer at M.I.T., she says "Scientists must stick together."

ELEANOR RITA LEVY

83 Gordon Street, Brighton

Kindergarten-Primary

Art Club I; Dance Committee I-III, Chairman Decorations I-III; Dean's List II-IV; Junior Prom Committee III, Chairman III; President's List I; S.G.A. Award II; Senior Class Secretary IV.

The Picasso of the class of '62, Ellie's charm lies in her contagious laughter and her spontaneous, "Oh, I say."

THOMAS J. NYHAN

9 Bayside Street, Savin Hill

Secondary

Cap and Gown Committee IV; Dance Committee IV; Junior Week Committee III; Newman Club I-IV; Senior Class Treasurer; Senior Fair Committee IV.

Our Senior Class Treasurer found it very easy to get along with almost everyone he met. His "No" to the question of wearing caps and gowns was most emphatic.

ROSEMARIE ABBIUSO

95 Sunnyside Street, Hyde Park

Secondary

 Literary Club I, II; Newman Club I-IV;
 World Affairs Club II.

The distinctive features of dark black hair, blue eyes, and friendliness to all contribute greatly to the charm possessed by this perpetually active Miss.

JOAN CLAIRE ANGLAND

124 Russett Road, West Roxbury

Elementary

Dean's List I-IV; Newman Club I-IV; Spanish Club I-III, Secretary III.

Joan is a quiet achiever who directs her leisure time toward teaching crafts and rooting for B. C.

JAMES FREDERICK ANSELL

22 Edge Hill Street, Jamaica Plain

Elementary

Protestant Student Association I-IV; Psychology Club I, II.

A quiet young man whose main extracurricular interest is cars. A ready smile is one of Jim's most distinguishing characteristics.

THERESA FRANCES ARENA

68 Templeton Street, Dorchester

Elementary

 Dean's List I; Drama Club I, II; French Club I-III; Lampas IV; Modern Dance Club I, II; Senior Fair Committee IV.

"Pash" delights in Dixieland Jazz, interpretive dancing and sunbathing at Malibu and the Cape. An insatiable thirst for water, constant tardiness, and bewitching eyes are her outstanding characteristics.

IVAN ASHLEY

39 Wyoming Street, Roxbury

Elementary

A welcome addition to State in his Junior year, Ivan's outside work with children will prove to be an asset to him.

FLORA ATHANAS

40 High Street, Cambridge

Elementary

Dean's List I-IV; French Club I-IV; Literary Club, Secretary II, Treasurer III; Orthodox Club I-IV; W.R.A., Basketball I, Golf II, Tennis I-IV, Representative II, III.

Our own Mademoiselle Couturiere, who climaxed her college career with a tour of Europe, has especially fond memories of Paris, where her college French proved very beneficial.

CECILE M. BAILET

452 Norfolk Street, Mattapan

Elementary

All-College Musical I; Dean's List I-IV; French Club I; Hillel Club I, II; Psychology Club I.

Cecile's many talents are especially noteworthy in the scholastic and musical fields. With her magnetic personality, charming wit, gentle nature and winning smile, she will indeed be an excellent teacher and will continue to make as many friends as she has made here at State.

ELIZABETH A. BAKER

434 Elm Street, Braintree

Elementary

Lammas IV; Literary Club III; Music Club I, II; Newman Club I, III; President's List I-IV; Senior Fair Committee IV; S.G.A. Semi-Formal Committee IV.

As the possessor of a most enviable academic record, coupled with a pleasant and winning personality, Beth has attained a high stature among her classmates. She can now also boast of her European travel.

JUDITH J. BARRASSO

50 Homes Avenue, Dorchester

Kindergarten-Primary

Literary Club III; Newman Club I-IV, Representative IV; Senior Fair Committee IV; W.R.A., Archery III, Executive Committee II, Secretary III.

Petite and eager to please, Judy's soft voice enhances her spun-glass delicacy.

GERALD ANTHONY BATTISTA

35 Victoria Street, Revere

Elementary

Chalkdust Sports Editor IV; Dance Committee III; Dean's List III, IV; Initiation Committee III, Co-Chairman; M.A.A. Basketball I-IV; Newman Club I, II; Senior Fair Committee IV, Co-Chairman; World Affairs Club III.

The twinkle of brown eyes betrays a playful sense of humor beneath a seemingly serious exterior. A many faceted personality whose interests range from class activities, athletics, and Chalkdust to a certain Irish lass.

NORMA MARIE BELLIVEAU

35 Porter Road, Cambridge

Elementary

Dance Committee III; Dean's List III; Junior Social III; Newman Club I-IV; Parents Tea and Reception Committee III; Senior Fair Committee IV; World Affairs Club III.

This petite Miss with a flair for French wins many admirers with her ever-present smile and good humor.

FRANK J. BIONDO

103 Colberg Avenue, Roslindale

Elementary

Drama Club I; Junior Social III; Music Club I-IV; Newman Club I.

State's celebrated trumpet player is already well on his way to establishing himself in a career of music, both as a performer and as a teacher.

CAROL ANN BLACK

50 Athol Street, Allston

Kindergarten-Primary

Art Club I-III; Dance Committee II-IV; Newman Club I-IV; S.G.A. Representative IV.

A pixie with a paintbrush, an ever-challenging logic, and sound convictions with wit and ideas — this is Carol.

NANCY JEAN BOONE

266 Nakatan Street, Norwood

Secondary

Bowling Club I; Chalkdust I; Literary Club II, III; Protestant Student Association I, Treasurer; Sophomore Social Committee II; World Affairs Club II, III; W.R.A. Representative I-III.

A cute little trick with a silent tongue, she is always smiling. Not only does she attract the opposite sex, but she is also a favorite of her own.

SHEILA MARIE BOWES

66 Cass Street, West Roxbury

Kindergarten-Primary

Bowling Club II; Literary Club III; Newman Club I, II, IV, Representative IV; President's List I-IV; Senior Fair Committee IV.

Sheila's quiet intelligence and sparkling blue eyes make her a friend worth knowing and keeping. Her charming grace and manner have made her one of the most sought after girls at B. S. C.

CAROLE ELLEN BRAHANEY

157 Winsor Avenue, Watertown

Elementary

Blazer Committee I-IV, Chairman; Dance Committee I-IV, Co-Chairman II; Newman Club I-IV; Parents Tea and Ring Committee III, Co-Chairman; S.G.A. Award II, Banquet Committee III, Co-Chairman, Representative I-III; W.R.A. Fencing II.

An avid worker for the Senior class, Carole was always able to demonstrate her ever-vibrant approach to art. Her special interest in and love for children identify her as a truly understanding individual.

ANNE THERESA BRENNAN

21 Albion Place, Charlestown

Secondary

Literary Club I; Math Club I-IV; Newman Club I-IV; Senior Fair Committee IV; World Affairs Club II.

Anne's quiet sincerity and humor are her outstanding attributes. All agree that Anne will be an excellent Math teacher.

ALICE CLAY BROADWATER

98 Pinckney Street, Boston

Elementary

Art Club II; Philosophy Club III.

Serious, sympathetic, philosophic, she believes in the goodness of mankind and in training and encouraging man to reason and think.

ARTHUR M. BROMFIELD

25 Wellington Hill Street, Mattapan

Secondary

All-College Musical III; Bowling Club III, IV; Hillel Club I-IV, Vice President II; Math Club III; President's List I-IV; Science Club III-IV.

Arthur's sincerity and conscientious nature gained for him the respect of the student body.

ALICE M. BROWN

37 Sudan Street, Dorchester

Elementary

Newman Club I; Senior Fair Committee IV; S.G.A. Semi-Formal Committee IV.

A quiet, attractive blonde who had the misfortune to be first on the attendance roster in her Junior year. Among her pastimes is cheering for B. C.

DANIEL J. BROWNE

70 Weld Hill Street, Jamaica Plain

Secondary

Chalkdust IV; Dance Committee I-IV; Lampas IV, Sports Co-Editor; M.A.A. Intramural Basketball I, II; World Affairs Club IV.

Intelligent, reserved, well worth knowing, serious-minded about fulfilling his ambition, Danny helped J.F.K. in his 1960 campaign.

ALICE E. BUCKLEY

187 Hillside Street, Boston

Elementary

Bowling Club III; Dean's List I-IV; French Club I; Literary Club I; Newman Club I-IV; Psychology Club I; W.R.A. Basketball I.

Quickly and smoothly she glides along, wearing always her pleasant smile.

MARGARET F. BUDROW
38 Lyon Street, Dorchester

Secondary

Class Secretary I-III; Dean's List I, III, IV; Lampas IV; Math Club III, IV; Newman Club I-IV; One-Act Play Contest III; President's List II; Psychology Club I; Science Club II-IV; Senior Week Committee IV, Chairman Pops Night; S.G.A. Representative III; W.R.A. Representative IV.

The class will always remember the many contributions Peg has made as one of our leaders. A magnetic personality and strong determination are but two of Peg's many outstanding qualities.

WILLIAM JAMES CALLAHAN

33 Lothrop Street, Brighton

Industrial Arts

Newman Club I-IV, Representative I-IV; President's List III; Senior Week Committee IV, Co-Chairman Class Day.

Bill is a versatile sportsman and a pillar of the Park League. His interest in sports was always shown by his enthusiastic support of all intramural activities.

BENJAMIN F. CAMPBELL

1064 Bennington Street, East Boston

Industrial Arts

M.A.A. Basketball I.

Ben's greatest possession is his warm and outgoing personality. His ability and knowledge are sure to carry him a long way.

ELIZABETH THERESA CAMPBELL

114 Greenbrier Street, Dorchester

Kindergarten-Primary

Dance Committee II; Newman Club I, II;
Senior Fair Committee IV.

Unflurried and almost on time, she is a "petite package" with quiet ways and a reassuring smile.

RICHARD A. CAPONE

101 Leyden Street, East Boston

Elementary

Dean's List II-IV; Newman Club I; S.G.A.
Representative III; World Affairs Club II.

Perpetually energetic and friendly to the point of contagion, Rich will never be remembered by a classmate without an accompanying smile.

LORRAINE J. M. CARCERANO

23 Shannon Street, Brighton

Secondary

Bowling Club I; Dean's List III, IV; Newman Club I-IV; Spanish Club I-IV, President III.

Our own Spanish professor always saw the best in everyone. Her own magnetic charm quietly evidenced itself whenever others were in need.

JAMES W. CARROLL

40 Parson Street, Brighton

Industrial Arts

Dean's List I-IV; M.A.A., Basketball I, Golf II.

Jim is well known for his subtle humor. He is widely liked because of his fine sense of tact and diplomacy.

RUTA VIKSNINS CASS

21 Adelaide Street, Jamaica Plain

Secondary

Drama Club I, II, IV; Literary Club I, II; Music Club I, II; Protestant Student Association I-IV; World Affairs Club III, IV; Volunteer Agency I, II, IV.

Friendly and nice, pleasant to talk to, good-natured and agreeable, Ruta has also the distinction of being one of State's homemakers and mothers.

JOSEPH CELONA

1096 Bennington Street, East Boston

Elementary

Dean's List I-IV; Newman Club I, II; World Affairs Club II, III.

Guaranteed never to miss a class or forget a friend, Joe is one of the "pillars" of the college.

ANN T. CERCONE

27 Bates Road, Milton

Elementary

Dean's List I-IV; French Club I, II; Psychology Club I.

Characterized by her love of bananas, New Hampshire and Vermont, unusual clothes, Pops concerts, Modigliani and Dartmouth week-ends, she has that Ivory look..

PAUL JOHN CERQUA

32 Derby Street, Somerville

Elementary

Cap and Gown Committee IV; Dance Committee II, III; Initiation Committee III, Co-Chairman; Newman Club I, II; Senior Advisory Board IV; S.G.A. Representative III.

Serious about his studies but always ready to tell or take a joke, Paul kept us laughing with him for four years.

MARION CHAPRALES

20 New Hampshire Avenue, Somerville

Elementary

Bowling Club III; Orthodox Club I-IV, Secretary II, President III; Spanish Club III; W.R.A. Badminton III.

That her wholesome energy invade her classroom is the sincere wish of her friends.

PAULA J. CINARDO

597 Metropolitan Avenue, Hyde Park

Kindergarten-Primary

Senior Fair Committee IV; S.G.A. Representative III.

Deep dimples and laughing brown eyes belie the independent and individualistic soul of Paula. She is quietly reserved, with strength of purpose.

ELLEN M. COADY

20 Granville Road, Cambridge

Secondary

Cap and Gown Committee IV; Cheerleading I, II; Dance Committee I-IV; Dean's List I-IV; Junior Week Committee IV; Newman Club I-IV; Senior Fair Committee IV; Senior Prom Committee IV.

A cute girl with a personality to match, Ellen's one drawback seems to be that she was at one time vaccinated with a phonograph needle. Always a smart dresser, she is one of the campus's favorite co-eds.

ELEANOR ANN COHEN

14 Wellman Street, Brookline

Elementary

French Club I, II; Hillel Club I-IV.

A pleasant smile and matching personality make Eleanor a welcome addition to our class.

ROSEMARY CAROLE COLLINS

31 Roseland Street, Dorchester

Elementary

All-College Musical III; Dance Committee I-III; Dean's List I-IV; Lamplas IV; Newman Club I-IV; One-Act Play Contest I; Psychology Club I; Senior Fair Committee IV; World Affairs Club III.

"Carole" is easily identified by her "red" hair and charming personality. Her calm, level attitude in the face of many a "disaster" has gained for her an enviable reputation among her classmates.

JOHN PATRICK CONLEY

1 Centre Street Terrace, Roxbury

Secondary

All-College Musical III; Chalkdust III; Dance Committee I, Co-Chairman; Dean's List III, IV; M.A.A., Intramural Basketball I-IV, Varsity Baseball II-IV; Music Club I, II; Newman Club I-III; One-Act Play Contest II; President's List I, II; President Junior Class III.

Our Junior Class President and a leader of the class of '62, John has shown his skill in school athletics and musical shows. A popular and likeable guy who will definitely be a leader in whatever he undertakes.

ELIZABETH A. CONN

17 Brookfield Street, Roslindale

Elementary

Art Club I; Dean's List III; Newman Club I-IV; W.R.A. Representative I.

Betty outranked the others in Physical Ed. Methods as far as throwing power was concerned. She spent part of her time in Europe playing nursemaid to a broken metatarsal.

EDWARD DONALD CONNELLY

85 Moss Hill Road, Jamaica Plain

Industrial Arts

Dean's List III, IV; M.A.A. Baseball I, II; Newman Club I-IV; Psychology Club II, III; S.G.A. Representative I-IV.

Smiling, jocular, and effervescent, Ed is noted for his warmth and friendliness.

ELLEN DENISE CONNERTON

901 Hancock Street, Quincy

Kindergarten-Primary

Dean's List I-IV; Music Club I, II; Newman Club I, III; Senior Fair Committee IV.

She strives for fulfillment and anticipates her future role as cook and poet.

HELEN M. CONNORS

8 Rena Street, Allston

Elementary

Dean's List I-IV; Newman Club I; Psychology Club III.

A demure sophisticate whether she is cavorting in Bermuda or waitressing on the Cape.

JAMES B. CORSCADDEN

61 Loring Street, Hyde Park

Secondary

Junior Week Committee III; Math Club I-IV, Secretary III; Science Club I-IV, Secretary III; Senior Week Committee IV.

Jim's sense of humor brightened many a dull hour. He's a budding scientist who violently opposes "memorization."

HELEN LOUISE CRONIN

11 Pine Lodge Road, West Roxbury

Elementary

Dean's List I-IV; Junior Week Committee III; Newman Club IV; Senior Fair Committee IV.

A transfer from Framingham, Helen's dependability, earnest sincerity and quiet cheerfulness have helped her acquire many friends at Boston State.

CLAIRE ELLEN CROSS

6 Mission Street, Boston

Secondary

All-College Musical I, III, Chairman I; Christmas-Channukah Program III, Chairman; Dean's List I-IV; Junior Week III, Co-Chairman Jazz Night; Lampas IV, Associate Business Manager; Newman Club I-IV; One-Act Play Contest II; Senior Week IV, Co-Chairman Class Day; Student Government Association, Convention Delegate II, Financial Committee Chairman III, Recording Secretary III, Representative I, Treasurer II; Volunteer Agency III; W.R.A., Intramural Basketball I, II.

Always willing to cooperate, Claire was a mainstay in S.G.A. and LAMPAS, and has built a reputation at State for hard work and sincerity. We extend to her our thanks and best wishes for her future.

ELLEN THERESE CROTTY

58 Soley Street, Charlestown

Elementary

Dance Committee II; French Club I-IV; Lampas IV; Newman Club I-IV; Senior Fair Committee IV.

A blend of candor and sophistication who favors sleeping late, tea, parties, Utrillo and notebook margins full of choice French phrases. Ellen is an angel with a tilted halo.

MARY CUNNIF

13 Sherman Street, Natick

Elementary

Newman Club I, II; Psychology Club I; W.R.A., Representative III, Volleyball I, Badminton II.

Always quick to smile, Mary could easily laugh at her own mistakes and just as easily turn a giddy conversation into a serious discussion. Like father, like daughter — Mary couldn't find her way to the Junior Prom.

RICHARD L. CURTIN

87 Fitchburg Street, Watertown

Elementary

Dance Committee I-III; Initiation Committee III; M.A.A. Intramural Basketball I; Music Club III, IV; Newman Club I-IV.

Good-natured, Richie is "keenly interested in sports," especially hockey. With his friendly manner and pleasing personality he should be very successful in attaining his goals.

EDNA CURTIS

78 Orchard Street, Cambridge

Kindergarten-Primary

Senior Fair Committee IV.

Like a garden at dawn, our quiet seamstress can also blossom into an engagingly witty personality.

LOIS FAYE CUTLER
100 West Selden Street, Mattapan

Secondary

Chalkdust III; Dance Committee II; Dante's Inferno Committee II; Dean's List I-IV; Junior Social Committee III; Literary Club II, III; S.G.A. Representative II; W.R.A. Representative III.

Boston State's own contribution to VOGUE radiates natural friendliness wherever she is. Her spontaneous, amiable manner is aptly heightened by a charmingly well-groomed air.

MARY C. DALY
16 Hall Avenue, Watertown

Elementary

Music Club I-III; Newman Club I-IV; President's List I-IV.

One member of our class who can be described by three "s's" — small, shy and smart.

MARY CATHERINE DANEHY

48 Parsons Street, Brighton

Elementary

Cap and Gown Committee IV; Chalkdust III; History Club II; Newman Club I; Dance Committee IV; Senior Fair Committee IV.

An avid Geography student, she was extremely interested in rock formations, especially if they looked like diamonds. She would never admit to being a member of the Rifle Club. Mary is easily spotted by her long, envy-inspiring fingernails.

BARBARA DERANEY DANFORTH

70 Josephine Avenue, West Somerville

Elementary

Art Club I-IV; Chalkdust III, Art Editor; Christmas Decorations II-IV; Dance Committee III, IV; Lampas IV, Art Editor; S.G.A. Representative II; W.R.A. Volleyball I.

Barbara is valued as one of the best artists of the Senior class. Her warm personality has gained for her many friends and — last year — a husband.

BEVERLY ROSE DERANEY

77 DeSoto Road, West Roxbury

Secondary

Chalkdust I-III, Editor-in-chief III; Columbia Scholastic Press Conference II, III; Dean's List III, IV; History Club II, President II; Junior Class Social III; Lampas IV; Orthodox Club I-IV; President's List I, II; Student Handbook III, Co-Editor.

A warm and generous personality, always with a smile, she works quietly to produce only the finest. She brings to each undertaking experience, skill and determination to excel.

ROCHELLE M. DESELLIER

74 Clay Street, Cambridge

Secondary

W.R.A. Golf III.

A girl who can make the best of any situation; an advocate of English Raleighs.

ELLEN M. DEVEREAUX
237 Maple Street, West Roxbury
Kindergarten-Primary

Newman Club I-IV; Senior Fair Committee IV; W.R.A. Representative III, IV.

Ellie's lively manner and mischievous blue eyes have made her an outstanding member of our class. Always ready for a coffee break, Ellie will be remembered for her cheerful disposition and sympathetic ear.

JANET LOUISE DEVIN
96 Langdon Street, Watertown

Elementary

Dance Committee II-IV, Co-Chairman IV; Dean's List III, IV; Newman Club I, III, IV; President's List I, II; Prom Committee III.

This beauty has a captivating appearance with a personality to match. She well illustrates the idea that beauty can have brains.

FRANCIS JAMES DEVINE
18 Calder Street, Dorchester

Industrial Arts

Dean's List I-IV; Newman Club I-IV; Senior Week Committee IV, Co-Chairman Prom.

A sports-car enthusiast, Frank is well versed in mechanics. His capacity for knowledge is envied by all who meet him.

JAMES M. DILLON
92 Selwyn Street, Roslindale

Secondary

Dean's List II; One-Act Play Contest III; President's List I.

Jim easily holds his own in intellectual spheres, yet he is able to retain the common touch and a type of wit that is peculiar to him alone. His interests are amateur dramatics, the classics, and folk music.

SUSAN DIRKSMAYER
290 Main Street, Winthrop

Elementary

French Club I-IV, Treasurer II, Vice President III; Junior Week Committee III; Psychology Club I; S.G.A. Representative II, III.

Dry humor, a sympathetic ear, and an inquisitive nature make Susan a warm and vibrant personality.

JANICE NORINE DONNELLY

20 Newton Street, Everett

Secondary

All-College Musical II; Dance Committee II; Literary Club IV; Junior Week Committee III; Newman Club I-IV; World Affairs Club II; W.R.A. Golf I.

Janice's unique fashions enhanced her gracious height from her chapeaux to slippers.

JOHN F. DONOVAN, JR.

779 East Broadway, South Boston

Secondary

Dance Committee I, IV; Music Club II; Newman Club I, II.

Dunny is one of the more uninhibited members of our class. He resides in "Southie" — as if anyone couldn't guess. His anecdotes and amusing stories are a constant delight to his friends everywhere.

JANE MARIE DOUCETTE

143 Highland Avenue, Watertown

Elementary

Dean's List I, III, IV; Debating Club I; Modern Dance Club I; Newman Club I-IV; Philosophy Club IV; Publicity and Refreshment Committees I, II; S.G.A., Assistant Treasurer II, Corresponding Secretary III, First Vice-President IV; W.R.A. Representative I, II.

A veteran politician of many a hotly contested battle on the campaign trail, Dede's sparkling eyes and bright smile have made her one of the best-loved opponents on campus.

JANICE MARIE DOWNER

14 Adams Street, Watertown

Elementary

Dance Committee I-III; Newman Club I, II; Senior Fair Committee IV; Spanish Club I.

Janice has enlivened many a weary day with her vivacious personality and ever-present wit. Never without a smile or a friendly word, she has proved to be one of our most amiable classmates.

JEANNE MARIE DOYLE

14 Røseglen Road, Hyde Park

Kindergarten-Primary

Dance Committee III; Dean's List I, II; Freshman Initiation Committee III; Music Club III, IV; Newman Club I-IV; President's List III, IV; Senior Fair Committee IV.

A blush, a giggle and demurely expressed gestures conceal her wit. Jeannie is just a little late with wishes for a longer day.

PATRICIA ANN DOYLE

970 South Street, Roslindale

Kindergarten-Primary

Dance Committee III; Freshman Initiation Committee III; Music Club III, IV; Newman Club I-IV; Senior Advisory Board IV.

Pensive, pert, and proper is she, but Pat also likes high-spirited fun.

ROSEMARY R. DRISCOLL

56 Moreland Street, West Roxbury

Secondary

Chalkdust III, Features Editor; Columbia Scholastic Press Conference III; Dante's Inferno III, Chairman; Dean's List I-IV; Junior Week Committee III, Co-Chairman Pops Night; Lampas IV, Co-Editor; S.G.A. Representative II, Service Award III; Volunteer Agency III, IV, Chairman III.

Witty remarks pepper her conversations with her many acquaintances. Her individual laugh advertises fun. She is possessed of a talent for leadership, plus congeniality and a dash of sophistication.

MARILYN FRANCES DUFFY

14 Egleston Street, Jamaica Plain

Elementary

Newman Club I-IV; Psychology Club I; Spanish Club II, III.

Sincere and gentle are her ways; warm and loyal are her friendships.

DAVID PETER DURANT

283 Gold Street, South Boston

Secondary

Bowling Club III, IV; Dean's List I-IV; Math Club III, IV; Newman Club III, IV; Science Club III, IV.

JOSEPH L. KENNEDY
39 Malta Street, Mattapan

Secondary

Dean's List I; M.A.A. Intramural Basketball I-IV.

One of the most likeable students in the class is our pal Joey. An avid sports fan and something of an amateur weatherman, quiet Joe is a good friend to many.

MARILYN F. KENNEDY
32 Tobin Road, West Roxbury

Elementary

Art Club I; Newman Club I-IV; Psychology Club IV; Senior Fair Committee IV; Senior Week Committee IV, Co-Chairman.

Marilyn's devotion to our class President is exceeded only by her devotion to State itself. As pretty a Miss as ever graced the pages of GLAMOUR, and a perfect "First Lady," she is one of our favorites.

JOHN PATRICK KING
14 Cornauba Street, Roslindale

Secondary

Chalkdust III; Columbia Scholastic Press Conference III; Dean's List III-IV; Lamas IV, Co-Editor; Literary Club III; Student Handbook IV, Co-Editor.

By being quietly dependable, he lends sanity to a situation. By being a storehouse of knowledge, he keeps the encyclopedia up to date. By being our own Falstaff, Sir John kept us all merry.

The Challenge

Times of crisis and challenge are not novel in the history of mankind. Each era has had a threat posed to its destiny and its future. In our time of tumult we realize that the question of the survival of the human race is not a new one. What is new will be the attitude this generation takes toward it. Man, through the surges of scientific progress, has been given the enormous power to decide the question of his existence. Science has given humanity the twin tools of progress and destruction. However, we wonder whether education has given man the wisdom to employ these discoveries wisely. Where has the education of man faltered, so that, although he has advanced far in the fields of science, his basic understanding of morality and the dignity of personality is imperfect? New types of barbarism that involve a betrayal of basic freedoms have appeared with an unprecedented violence and cruelty. The failure of modern man to counter these monstrous attacks with a new offense based on dedication and vigor is the catastrophe of our age.

Only wisdom can save us. Who is a truly wise man? He is one who is able not only to apply the lessons of the past as a guide to the present and the future but also to temper these lessons with his own individual creativity. Thus he can use the insights of history in new, vigorous ways. Moreover, the truly wise man is inspired by universal truths and a strong conception of virtue. Any hope that we may have for the future presupposes a great increase in the numbers of such men. The complexities of the world challenge them to replace mediocrity with excellence, hypocrisy with integrity, and irresponsibility with dedication.

It is the task of education to form these future wise leaders. It is the task of education to instil in them courage, a desire to enoble their minds, and a deep commitment to the value of human dignity.

The Quest

At this time, I seek.

When I was small, seasons came and went;
Yet, I noticed not the individual days.
Time was for robust living.

Now I ponder.

My secret self is ageless and creative.

I long for a child's innocence.

Theories undulate an importance.

I need to give and to receive.

I want rationality in my abstraction.

I seek good, but find evil dispersed in the ways of life.

I live; therefore I know not death.

Giving is primary.

Can I give much before I am rejected?

Preserve the sanctity of the Being?

Why the Self?

I speak that which I know not, even with increased fervor - though it eludes me.

I speak for youth. We seek.

Truth to the Self would be the standard to seek.

But we ponder the selves:

The joyful, the musing; the somber, the giving.

They make the whole one of turmoil.

Treason to the Self is the highest form of dishonor.

So, daily we indulge; and daily we mourn.

To find the Self;

To be to it true.

Thus we search.

Class History

Freshman Year

Our introduction to college life came with Orientation Day. We arrived in the courtyard costumed as witch-doctors or Purple-People Eaters and became completely subservient to our "big brothers and sisters" of the Junior Class, who used their temporary slaves as they would. That same evening we were formally received into the "Happy Family" at the Student Government Association's All-College Banquet.

The college Variety Show was the first opportunity for us, as Freshmen, to demonstrate dramatic ability. The ability of our actors and actresses was found to be more than adequate.

The closing of the library in the middle of that year forced us to spend many a happy hour in the Student Lounge. Here we planned quite a few successful ventures. One of these was our "Festival of Flowers" during the month of May. This venture was hailed as a great achievement and financial success.

At the end of our frosh year we discovered the merits of No-Doz and black coffee — unfortunately, some of us slept through finals anyway. Our finals came and went and we found ourselves at Winkaersheek. There we frolicked and happily prepared ourselves for our roles as Sophomores.

Sophomore Year

Our Sophomore careers started with Claire Cross' smile as we surrendered our fifteen dollars to her for our Student Government Association dues. We then began to explore the wonderful worlds of Biology, Recreation, and underwater Physical Education.

"February Fantasy," the Sophomore Dance, found us once again dancing in a North Hall transformed by the unique decorations created by Ellie Mattina. We did our best in the One-Act play contest but captured no awards that year for the effort. Later that year Rosemary Driscoll introduced us to the rigors of Hell with "Dante's Inferno"; Robert English played a charming corpse which added to the deadly atmosphere of the lounge.

With the advent of second semester, a new organization was formed by our classmates — the Volunteer Service Bureau. This was later to prove a milestone in the Class of 1962 because it has brought recognition to the college for its service to the community.

As the year drew to a close, we once again faced or encountered final exams. Most emerged victorious and prepared to take on the duties of leadership inherent in the title: Junior.

Junior Year

Our first act as upperclassmen was Freshman Orientation followed by initiation built around the theme of "Sadie Hawkins Day." We all enjoyed putting our Freshman prey through their paces that day. Our own initiation soon followed with our introduction to various "methods" courses, lesson plans, and weekly trips to the model school.

Bill Kodad and Maryellen Foster arranged our "Winter Whirl," the class dance, the first event on our social calendar. It was a great success and most indicative of our flair for social functions. The One-Act play contest blew in with March and our entry, "Summer Fury," with Miriam Stanton and John LoConte as stars was hailed as a great comic success by the students. The judges, however, differed in their opinion of it as a serious drama.

Junior Week began on a lively note with our Jazz Night in the lounge. A more serious mood was in order for the next event: the Parent's Tea and Ring Ceremony. The Junior Banquet was a huge success with good fare, and entertainment was at its best with the wit and humor of Hugh McDonagh. Thursday, we enjoyed a relaxing night at Pops. This hectic and wonderful week came to a close with the Junior Prom at the Blue Hills Country Club.

After Junior Week we again met, battled with and overcame final exams. With that a group of very tired Juniors became Seniors.

Senior Year

Our Senior year began on a serious note. With the sound of "Pomp and Circumstance" for background, we marched into the courtyard to be capped and become Seniors officially.

The social calendar began with the Senior Dance, "Cotton Carnival," which transformed North Hall into a scene reminiscent of the "Steamboat South."

In December a group of hardworking Seniors, headed by Jerry Battista and Peggy Sweeney, produced a highly successful Senior Fair.

In February our class set a precedent with its "Winter Carnival," two evenings of fun for the members of all the classes.

Later in the year we paid tribute to our instructors with a Faculty Tea and thanked our cooperating teachers with a Training Teachers Tea.

Exams completed, we began our Senior Week with the President's Tea followed by the Baccalaureate Ceremony. We spent an enjoyable evening at the Pops and another at the Dolphin for the Senior Banquet. Friday evening saw us at the Senior Prom at the Hotel Continental, and Saturday we became serious once again with the coming of Class Day.

Finally, the culmination of four years of work and study came as parents and friends gathered to watch the granting of degrees at Commencement.

Our College years we now view as only the end of the beginning.

THOSE

MORNING
BLUES

"Hello down there"

Of the beauty that was ours.

First Day Qualms

Nervously biting my hand, I make my way toward the large gray building with the barred windows — the local high school that houses grades one through thirteen. Today I am to have my first experience before a class. The great moment has come, the moment that I have eagerly awaited through four years of college, the moment that will make or break me. I throw out my chest and breathe deeply. Will the children like me? Shivering, I remember what happened last week to my closest friend, Ferdinand Fortinbras. The children in his first class did not like him, possibly because he had an eye in the middle of his forehead. Anyway, they put a small transistor bomb in his Liverwurst sandwich. At lunch, he went all to pieces.

Clutching my throat with cold, sweaty fingers, I stumble up the stairs to the office of the principal, Mr. Basher. As I come in the door, he lunges toward me, bowling me over with a flying tackle. "Whoops, excuse me — thought you were an erring student sent to the office," he says, getting off the floor and readjusting the sunflower in his buttonhole. "You the new practice teacher? You don't look much older than the students. Hope you don't have any trouble. All you have to remember is to be brave, courageous, unbending." He raises his eyes dramatically to the picture of George Washington over his desk. Inspired by these words, I kneel before him. Putting his hand on my head, he admonishes me to go forward unafraid, upholding forever the standards of the National Education Association. Then off I go to my first class.

As I walk down the musty old corridor, with water seeping through the walls, fear again comes to me. I try to quiet my mind by recalling the noble laws of educational theory that I have learned in college. I recite: Never hit a child except in self-defense. Never open the windows during a hurricane. Never chew bubble gum — you might give students a bad example.

But all my fears prove to be unfounded. Looking carefully into the sixth-grade room before I enter, I see row upon row of little children quietly sitting, their hands folded on their desks. As soon as they see me, they rise and say in unison, "Good morning, beloved teacher and friend." Then they sit. I realize immediately that this must be a child-centered classroom.

As I go to sit at my desk, a little girl with a large cloth dashes forward and dusts off my chair. Then she whisks the cloth around my desk, humming as she does so parts of the last movement of Beethoven's Ninth. After opening exercises, I begin with the first lesson. The subject is Spain. I decide that I shall call on students in alphabetical order. I look at the first name, Andrew Andrjdrjb. I decide to skip him and call on the next student, Nausica Bibble. "What do you know about Spain, Nausica?" I ask. She jumps to her feet and stands at attention. "Spain, forming the major part of the Iberian peninsula, has a population of 25,788,324. The capital city is Madrid. The center of the country forms a vast plateau extending from the Cantabrian Mountains in the north to the Sierra Morena in the south, and from the Portuguese border in the west to the low ranges that separate the plateau from the Mediterranean coast in the east. "The government is —" She stops for breath.

"Right, you little rascal," I cut in as she gets ready to resume. "Sit down."

Next we take up Nuclear Physics. I call on one little boy, Quasimodo McGuirk, to explain the Second Law of Thermodynamics. He does so succinctly. The bell rings for recess. The class groans. Little Hieronymous Smith says, "We don't want to go to recess. They play such silly games." The class votes to skip recess and instead to discuss Toynbee's conclusions, with which several students seem to disagree. Nadia Needles, in fact, offers her own sharp concept of the decline of civilizations.

In the afternoon it becomes very hot. As the class does a written exercise involving differential calculus, a boy who finishes early comes to stand by my desk and fan me. When I thank him, he says, "We always try to provide for the individual differences of our teachers."

The bell marking the end of the day rings. Again the children groan. On the way out, they gather around my desk, asking questions about the material discussed during the day. Finally, after the last one has left, weary but happy, I stuff my books into my green satchel and go out of the building. My first experience has been successful. All those years of education have paid off handsomely. I am a stimulating teacher.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

S.G.A. President Bob Vitale.

At Boston State College the Student Government Association serves as a uniting force for an undergraduate body whose interests are far-ranging. In actuality S.G.A. is an amalgam of student resources. It forms the focal point of activities and serves as the governing group for student policies.

We who are intimately involved in the operation of S.G.A. firmly believe that it should provide a well-balanced program of student activities. Presidents Hayes, Podolsky, and Errico — under whose supervision S.G.A. functioned during the first three years of our college career — have worked intensively to achieve this goal. Each team of officers under every president has had but one principal aim: the greatest measure of success possible with the material available. The sights of this year's S.G.A. officers have been set on establishing and maintaining an active, effective, and functional student government which would provide a well-balanced program of activities. This goal is further broadened by adding to it S.G.A.'s desire for sensible and productive student leadership not only on our own campus but also among our sister colleges of the Commonwealth, with whom we have sought to unite.

As is the case when any project is launched for the benefit of a great number of people, it is most difficult to please each person or to provide for the interests of everyone. However, the pleasure which comes from knowing that as many persons as possible have enjoyed and benefited from our programs is not only rewarding in itself but also serves as an incentive for future endeavors. Perhaps this solitary and isolated fact has kept alive the spirit and the enthusiasm felt by the leaders of S.G.A.

I trust that the final analysis will show that S.G.A. during our Senior year has enjoyed its just measure of success. I also hope that in the future our successors will do much to make the Student Government Association more meaningful to all of the students of Boston State College.

CHALKDUST

.... Co-editors Betsy Buckley and Lennie DeAngelis with their "Loyal Few"

The college newspaper is the medium of expression for student opinion at Boston State. It concentrates primarily on campus news coverage, and it includes the activities of organizations, class functions, and feature articles.

Much work is involved in the monthly publication. News stories are readily found, but features must be devised for each issue. Before Chalkdust can be published, the Co-Editors along with the News and Features editors and the Layout and Business Managers decide what is to appear in the forthcoming issue. Or, as often is the case, a member of the student body will make a suggestion or submit an article.

The individual Page editors are then given a tentative list of what will appear on their respective pages, and they see that the story is typed and rewritten if necessary. The photographers are given their assignments, while the regular columnists, reporters, and cartoonists are notified and given a deadline.

As the material comes in, it is revised and typed. Quite often what is submitted is too lengthy and must be cut. Each article is seen by the Page Editor, either the News or Feature editor, the Co-Editors, and the Faculty Advisor.

The printer receives the material and returns galley proofs which the Layout Manager and her staff cut and paste into a proper, balanced form. While the Layout staff is doing the cutting, the others are proofreading articles and inserting corrections. As the layout on each page is completed, headlines are written.

Once this step is completed, the galleys are returned to the printer. The final proofs are generally reviewed by the Co-Editors and the Faculty Advisors. Last minute corrections are made at this point and occasionally a headline is changed or a story juxtaposed. The final proofs are returned to the printer and shortly thereafter Chalkdust reaches the reader.

The Drama Club, one of the largest and most active at State, provides an outlet for undergraduates with theatrical interests. In the past, the club has given us many fine productions. Some outstanding examples are Ibsen's A Doll House, Tennessee Williams' Glass Menagerie, and Noel Coward's Blithe Spirit. These productions have been well attended and the proceeds have been used to purchase new lighting and other equipment to make future productions more polished and professional.

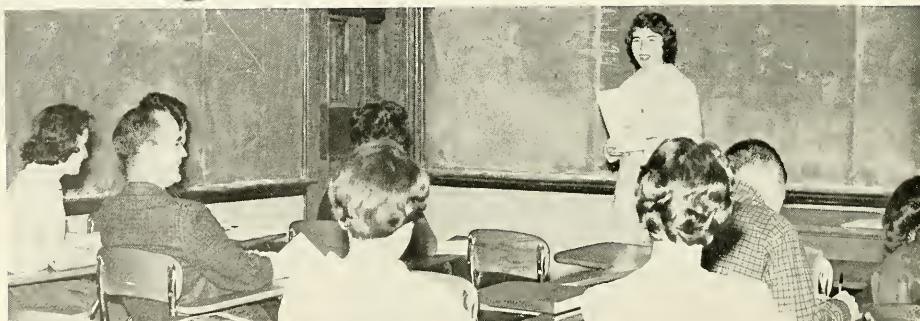

For those members who aspire to greater participation, there exists at the college, Rho Beta, a Chapter of Alpha Psi Omega, the National Dramatic Honor Society.

Members of the club gain valuable experience in the many facets of the theatre art. Except for a professional director for the major production of each year, the club members stage and produce each play themselves; and anyone who has attended one of their productions will attest to the quality of the performance.

MATHEMATICS CLUB

The program set up for the members of the Math Club is always multi-faceted and enthusiastically received. Films, field trips, guest speakers, and discussions are only some of the club's activities. This group now counts over forty students from all four classes. A basic knowledge of and interest in the field of mathematics guarantees personal satisfaction to participants.

Square Roots and all that.

Sing along with . . .

The Music Club is one of the most active groups at the college. It is composed of students from all classes and provides its members with the pleasure which comes from doing a thing particularly well. The annual performance of selections from The Messiah is proof of the calibre of the club. The group also sings at many college functions such as the Freshman Parents Tea and Commencement. In each case, the performance is excellent.

Always needing new members, the club welcomes enthusiastically all who join. Although the club has exacting standards, it demands of applicants only the desire to sing and the willingness to work.

The group, through its outside performances, has greatly added to the reputation of the college. Yearly it is invited to sing at the Amvets Commemoration of Pearl Harbor in December and the Governor's Reception, held in the Hall of Flags of the State House.

As an integral part of the program, the members attend many outstanding musical events throughout the year, the most prominent of which, the performance of the Metropolitan Opera in Boston, is eagerly awaited by the group, each individual selecting the opera that he wishes to attend.

The Music Club at B.S.C. reflects the spirit of the whole student body. It shows, through its performance, the quality of the men and women at the college and provides for those who participate either orally or aurally the pleasure that can be derived only from music.

Progressive Picassos

In a congenial workshop situation, club members work individually on special projects, sometimes cooperating in a major undertaking, as for example the decorating of the college during the holiday season. This year the purchase of silversmithing equipment expanded the club's program to include jewelry, in addition to painting, drawing, copper enameling, ceramics, and sculpture.

WORLD AFFAIRS CLUB

The World Affairs Club promotes activities that further an understanding of current world happenings and their implications. These activities pursue their goals through films, panels, debates, lectures, and discussions. All members are able to express their ideas and feelings concerning current world-wide topics during these meetings.

Solving all the world's problems.

LITERARY CLUB

Chaucer to Eliot.

The Literary Club, one of the most popular clubs at the college, does not limit itself to its bi-weekly meetings. The club offers its members the opportunity to enjoy a number of literary forms ranging from the novel and short story to the finest in modern dramatic productions. Lectures, discussions, and theater parties provide enrichment for the literary backgrounds of members. Excursions to points of literary interest, such as the home of Louisa May Alcott and Longfellow's Wayside Inn, serve further to emphasize the importance of Boston as a focal point in the literary history of America.

PHILOSOPHY CLUB

But if the desk isn't there, then what are you sitting on?

The Philosophy Club is made up of individuals who have the wish and the need to understand the great ideas that have shaped the past, present, and future directions of mankind and society. Group discussions investigate the classic and contemporary views of man the thinker. The club is organized informally around the idea that "democracy is a constant dialogue."

Freud says . . .

The Psychology Club holds its meetings bi-weekly. With Mr. Harold Shapiro serving as faculty advisor, the club explores new trends in psychology complemented by discussions and guest lecturers from the field of psychology. The club members also gain firsthand knowledge through field trips and visits to institutions. Documentary films present case histories which are discussed and generalized upon. Through cooperative efforts each member gains a fuller understanding of the more pressing and immediate problems in psychology.

Which way to the Plaza de Toros?

The Spanish Club meetings are held throughout the college year. Membership has been restricted to those students engaged in the study of Spanish at the college. A Spanish atmosphere prevails, even to the exclusion of spoken English. Novice members of the club experience a little temporary difficulty in understanding all that goes on. The program includes playlets, Spanish plays, and movies of Spain and other Spanish-speaking countries. These activities give the members an opportunity to get away from the conventional classroom language. The program may be varied, but two things are always present: Spanish music and plenty of refreshments.

F R C E L N U C B H

Under the guidance of Dr. Richard W. Newman, the French Club offers interested students the opportunity to enjoy a French environment via films, speakers, songs, plays, and an annual visit to a nearby French restaurant. Club meetings are conducted seven or eight times each year and always begin on a patriotic note with the singing of The Marseillaise. The club also takes an avid interest in any French language events occurring in the metropolitan area and makes a sincere attempt to include these in its program.

VOLUNTEER SERVICE BUREAU

Too many cooks . . .

The present Volunteer Service Bureau at B.S.C. began with the class of 1962. During a course in Recreation Leadership in January, 1960, sophomores were given a choice of writing several term papers, or working as volunteer leaders in the area of recreation. Twenty-seven students volunteered.

The results were twofold. First, the students had their eyes opened. Many enjoyed their work so much that they returned, on their own, to agencies the next fall. Second, through their enthusiasm and desire to introduce others to the same experience, they discovered that many "future teachers" had been volunteering all through their college years.

The decision to organize as a formal agency of the school grew out of the "impromptu seminars" of the sophomores. Because of the interest shown by other members of the college seeking further information about working as volunteers in other fields, panels were given at assemblies and many discussions were held in the lounge, cafeteria, and courtyard.

Once upon a time . . .

V.S.B. Chairman on the job.

The result was that during the school year 1960-1961, the Bureau provided over two hundred student volunteers in programs throughout the metropolitan area. By June of 1962, an estimated ten thousand hours will have been donated.

The Volunteer Service Bureau was founded on the principle of service for others. Recreation, youth leadership, informal education, and special services to aid trained professionals have been our aims.

A volunteer gives time and service, yet in return gains understanding, experience, and a great deal of personal satisfaction.

The co-ed skating party is eagerly awaited each year. It is an occasion of showmanship and hilarity. The large college turnout at the annual student-faculty volleyball game speaks highly of the humorous entertainment offered and the skill shown. The W.R.A. cookout is a time of feasting and fun. The Banquet is a social gathering of the members at which awards and prizes are presented to the deserving recipients. Entertainment is provided by the members and a well-known person in the field of Physical Education is always the highlight of this occasion. In the past years the club has invited such distinguished speakers as Dr. Josephine Rathbone, Dr. Minnie Lynn, and Dr. Peter Guild.

The objectives of the W.R.A., namely, recreation, leadership, sportsmanship, the development of talent and skill, and the acquiring of physical fitness are all met in its extensive program. The program is geared to the interests and time schedules of the students. In turn, the students avail themselves of this very fine program knowing that it will prove helpful to them in their teaching careers. Continued student support, enthusiasm, and spirit will insure the endless growth and success of the association. The constant guidance and support of the Womens Physical Education Department have been an inspiration to the club.

EXECUTIVE BOARD:

back Helen Clory, Maureen Caples, Patricia Cutter, Lois Pereira, Mary Connor, Lois Potts. front Terry Glynn, Betty Hamilton, Janet Short, June Grazado, Anita Sullivan.

The spirit of Boston State College is largely dependent on the enthusiasm of the Womens Recreation Association. The vigorous participation and well-attended activities of the W.R.A. eloquently express its success and growth. Loyalty and enthusiasm characterize the hard-working faculty advisors, the officers, and the activity leaders.

W.R.A. provides the women students with extra-curricular activities which develop the qualities of leadership and sportsmanship so necessary to a teacher. Opportunities in many sports are provided for the beginner as well as for the advanced person. Intra-mural and co-ed activities sponsored by W.R.A. are a means of getting acquainted with classmates. Sportsdays, playdays, and a collegiate basketball team help our students to become acquainted with the students of other colleges.

Spirit is the foundation of all the activities and events included in the association's program. Without spirit and pep these activities could not be the success they have been since the founding of this club. Included in the program are the following: archery, golf, basketball and basketball officiating, volleyball, badminton, dancing, tennis, cheerleading, fencing, and last but not least the NEW PEP CLUB. Each of these sports makes use of the latest equipment. The wide variety of activities makes it possible to meet the interests of all.

The Pep Club is the newest member of the W.R.A. family. We judge that from its wonderful acceptance by the faculty and students at its first rally, it will become another source of recreation and school spirit. Sincere thanks and appreciation go out to all who gave this new club such a hearty welcome and successful launching.

Special events arranged by the W.R.A. each year are the co-ed skating party, the student-faculty volleyball game, the W.R.A. cookout, and the W.R.A. Banquet. These events enable the W.R.A. members — and men students as well — to show their fine spirit.

BASKETBALL

Boston State students, and especially we Seniors, can well be proud of the efforts and accomplishments of our basketball team. Suffering from a lack of height and the disadvantage of being a college with a small enrollment of men students, the team has skillfully and determinedly fought bigger and better-equipped college teams.

Coach Tedesco and his squad have worked long and hard to accomplish their winning efforts, but despite this they have lost a number of games by close margins.

Our team opened the season against a scrappy Salem team. Boston remained in the lead — or close to it — throughout most of the first half; although doggedly hustling for every basket, they fell to an eventual defeat. However, it was rewarding to see an enthusiastic capacity crowd in attendance.

Paced by Pete Larson, the team bounced back with a fancy win over Bridgewater State in a small college tournament.

Unfortunately, the team has been unable to compile a winning record, but this cannot be attributed to lack of dedication or determination.

We Seniors should bear it in mind that we have been on the scene of a "rebirth" of basketball at the college in the sense that the school has moved up to a league filled with larger schools and more powerful teams. We should try to remember that temporary defeat may be the forerunner of future success!

BASEBALL

A dusty field, the crack of the bat, and the umpire's cry herald the coming of spring and baseball to Boston State. More and more, good baseball is becoming traditional at the college. Each year the ability and the spirit of the Warriors increases, making the group one of the most respected teams in the league. This rise reached its peak at the close of the 1960 season when the team captured the New England N.A.I.A. championship. While the 1961 team did not repeat as champions, the boys under coach James Sullivan had a commendable five and seven record against heavy opposition in a very strong league.

The team was sparked by three members of the Class of '62: Red Martell, a fine defensive right-fielder; John Conley, the clutch-hitting shortstop; and Paul Hughes, a long ball hitting center-fielder who many say is the best ever to have played at State.

The Warriors opened the season against a strong Bridgewater team and lost, nine to six. The team then went on a winning streak, taking four out of the next five games. They romped over R.I.C.E. (11 - 1) on the strength of a grand slam homer by Hughes in the first inning. Bobby Giannusso's seven-hit pitching job downed Stonehill, three to one, in the next game. Boston then belted Worcester, eleven to three. Pete Larson got four hits and Harry Vigdor struck out eleven and allowed only six hits by John Conley. Vigdor again was the winning pitcher. The team closed its season by losing a heartbreaker to Central Connecticut by a score of six to five.

To the undergraduates we have left the task of furthering the tradition of fine baseball at Boston State.

John Conley and Red Martell plan season's strategy with Coach Sullivan.

HILLEL CLUB

Rabbi Samuel Perlman

The B'nai B'rith Hillel Counselorship is one of over 240 units located on college campuses throughout the United States, Canada and some of the countries in Europe, South Africa and Israel.

Hillel is a democratically run organization which seeks to meet the religious, cultural, social and counselling needs of the students. The programs are developed by students under the leadership of their council which consists of the officers and the chairmen of various committees. The Hillel director, Rabbi Samuel Perlman, guides them in the development of their program.

Through participation in the Hillel program, students acquire a knowledge of their Jewish heritage. In addition, they have opportunities for development of their leadership potentialities which enable them to assume their roles in the Jewish community after college.

The weekly classes at State College at Boston are held during the religious hours on Mondays for Juniors and Seniors and on Wednesdays for Freshmen and Sophomores. All other activities such as religious services and socials are held at the Boston University Hillel House, 233 Bay State Road. Members of State College at Boston Hillel have the privilege of attending all of the activities that are developed by the Hillel units at Boston University.

Hillel Club members Marjorie Gelman, Ina Kredenser (Vice-President), Golda Carpenter, and Jennie Weissbord.

NEWMAN CLUB

Newman, in reality, is not a club. Inspired one hundred years ago by the work of John Henry Newman, English convert and cardinal, it is a movement. Its purpose is the total commitment of the Catholic college student in the non-Catholic and state college to Jesus Christ in His Mystical Body.

For the commitment to be full, it must be intelligent. To achieve this the Newman program at State College is emphatically educational. It provides a four-year study in depth of the truths of the Catholic faith and their bearing on Catholic life.

For the commitment to be personal, it must come from the heart. For this reason the Newman program here at the College is strongly religious. It makes possible many and varied opportunities for sound spiritual development and counsel.

For the commitment to be lasting, it must involve others. To this end the Newman program is social, but social with a twist. It is designed to lead to social action.

As a student movement, Newman at Boston State College is organized and directed by the student members, with Rev. Thomas M. Finn, of the Paulist Fathers, as guide and advisor.

ORTHODOX CLUB

Sophia Savini, Marilyn Bisbicos (Secretary), and Annette Stavros (President) of Boston State's Orthodox Club.

The Orthodox Student Organization has a two-fold purpose on this campus; one, purely spiritual, the other social. Although the club is made up of different nationalities and ethnic groups, orthodoxy itself is universal in its outlook and objectives. It is the continuation of the Apostolic Church in history and time.

The Orthodox Church has a message to convey not only to its members but to all regardless of their religious affiliation. We believe that the world civilization clearly epitomized in our own American society, stresses more and more materialism. We of course have no objection to the improvement of the economic situation, but only to point out the present crisis, which is in essence spiritual. Man is drifting away from God and depending more on his own achievements, inventions, and resources. We must see that we are in trouble and need the help of the Church.

The Orthodox Club at Boston State College tries to make known to every member the teachings and principles of our Church. We study Church history, Sacraments, practices, and discuss critically the ecumenical movements that are current. Our social activities include the annual February Oriental Dance, a pastry sale, and numerous meetings with fellow Orthodox students through our affiliation with the New England Federation of College Orthodox Students (NEFCOS). It is interesting to note that Boston State's Club is the largest and most active in this organization.

PROTESTANT STUDENT ASSOCIATION

P.S.A. Members James Ansell, Walter Reed, Ken Campbell, Sonya Gerokoulis (President), and Linda Prince meeting with Rev. Mr. Duane Miller.

The Protestant Student Association is a student operated, religious, educational and social organization. Not only do the students decide what programs they want, but they arrange for them. Its religious concern is expressed in the devotions at each meeting and in the religious content of the program. Its educational concern is to understand the content of the Christian faith and to understand its relevance to contemporary life. This is done through speakers, study groups, work groups, group discussions and counseling. Only by making the faith relevant to life now will future leaders know of its relevance to the decisions they will make in their lives and work. The Protestant Student Association is also concerned with Christian fellowship. Christian fellowship is strengthened not only in worship, work and involvement, but in recreation together. In worship, study and fun, the members of the Protestant Student Association come to understand what it means to be a Christian in the twentieth century.

In Closing . . .

The task of producing Lampas at times seemed almost impossible. However, with the help of a dedicated group of Seniors we have been able to complete our assignment in a manner which we believe to be both novel and interesting. It is our sincere hope that this yearbook will serve each of you as a reminder of your college days and the friendships made then.

Teacher's Prayer

I do not crave celestial fire,
To kindle hearts of youth;
I simply ask the gift divine
To lead my class to Truth.

To lead them thru School's devious ways,
To see them grow apace
Along the path where Wisdom stands
And doles out heavenly grace.

I pray to fashion their young minds
To know and do their part;
I seek to see them drawing near
Unto the Sacred Heart.

Great Teacher, list unto my prayer!
Oh, harken to my plea!
My very heart's desire is this:
To lead them nearer Thee.
